SEEK PHYSICIAN IN PROBE OF GIRL'S DEATH

FIANCE CONFESSES GIRL SUCCUMBED AS OPERATION SEQUEL

Search Of Medical Office Reveals Missing Organs

BOSTON, July 15.—Warrants for the arrest of Dr. Thomas E. Walsh and his wife on charges of first degree murder were issued by the municipal court here today in connection with the death of Miss Edith Louise Green, 19-year-old state ward.

This action was preceded by a police raid on the South End office of Dr. Walsh, who is alleged to have dismembered the young woman's body and concealed it near a Mattapan cemetery after she had died from an illegal operation. No trace of the physician or his wife, was found.

James Vincent Ford, 21 of South Boston, with whom Miss Green filed marriage intentions on July 3, was arrested by police in the West End early today and held for questioning.

The dismembered body was identified last night, just thirty-six hours after it had been discovered in two cardboard boxes and a burlap bag, near New Calvary cemetery, Mattapan.

Actual identification was made by Miss Betty Landry, a maid at the Boston Psychopathic Hospital, where the girl had been employed, as a laboratory assistant. Fillings in the victim's teeth and a small mole on her back convinced Miss Landry that the girl was Miss Green.

Following his arrest today, on a charge of engaging a physician to perform an illegal operation, Ford told police the story of his friendship with Miss Green. He said the physician dismembered and disposed of the body and that he had no part in it.

In a second raid at the home of Dr. Walsh today, police found some of the missing internal organs of the victim concealed in a garbage barrel. Police Superintendent Michael H. Crowley, who conducted the raid, submitting the material to Medical Examiner Timothy J. Leary. Meantime Ford was ordered held under $2,000 bail for the August grand jury.

BANDITS WHO ROBBED SIDNEY BANK CAUGHT IN CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, O., July 15.—Two men identified as two of the seven bandits who looted a Sidney, Ohio bank of $30,000 were turned over to Sidney police today while authorities here sought to identify five men and a woman held as alleged participants in other Ohio bank robberies. Gervius Ward and Charles Daniels, were returned to Sidney after their identification by officials of the robbed bank. The others under arrest are Marion Bates, 30; Charles Canary, 30; James Richardson, 25; Harry Zenz, 25; John Moore, 26 and Mrs. Canary, 26.

Police said they believed the sextette perpetrated the looting of a bank at Trenton, Ohio, and were responsible for the killing of Lawrence Steigewald, who was shot and killed while preventing an attempted robbery near here. A restaurant holdup at Hamilton also is attributed to the gang. The robberies in question occurred within the last three months. Ward and Daniels, together with the other prisoners, excluding Mrs. Canary, were arrested in a raid on a poolroom. A woman was said to have given information that led to the arrests.

WILLIAM VARE WILL DEMAND HIS SENATE CHAIR IF ELECTED

Nominee Proposes To Fight To Retain His Place

WASHINGTON, July 15.—William H. Vare, whose organization spent some $800,000 in his successful race for the Pennsylvania Republican senatorial nomination, intends to fight for his seat at the polls in November and, if he wins, to come to the senate and demand the chair, his friends here say.

While Vare himself declines to discuss statements of Senators warning that he will not be seated if elected, the United Press was informed on reliable authority that Vare will not retire without a fight.

His friends here take the position that if the people of Pennsylvania roll up a large majority for him in the November election, despite revelations of his expenditure before the senate primary investigating committee, the senate should not unseat him. They hold that the voters will have a full opportunity to pass upon his qualifications at the polls and that their verdict should be accepted by the senate.

A dozen senators have openly pledged themselves against seating him because of his expenditures.

The discussion has aroused a complicated situation around the seat now held by Senator George Wharton Pepper, Republican, Pennsylvania.

If Vare is elected and then ousted by the Senate, the governor of Pennsylvania would have power to appoint to fill the vacancy until the next general election.

GOODYEAR BALLOON IN ELKS' RACE LANDS IN TENNESSEE

AKRON, O., July 15.—The Goodyear IV, competing in the Elks National Balloon race, has landed near Jackson, Tenn., according to the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., here.

Jackson is approximately 427 miles from Chicago. The sphere was piloted by W. W. Morton.

CHICAGO, July 15.—Three of the four balloons which started from Chicago in the international balloon race Tuesday were still believed to be in the air today, going south.

A message was dropped from one of them last night at Byhalia, Miss., 495 miles from Chicago, saying the balloon was headed for the Gulf of Mexico. The other two bags were flying low over central Arkansas when last seen.

Chicago balloonists expected both to land this morning. Captain H. E. Honeywell, of St. Louis and his daughter, Edna, piloting the "Greater St. Louis," landed at Thompsonville, Ill., yesterday, 350 miles from Chicago.

The race was sponsored by the Elks Lodge holding its sixty-second annual convention at Chicago, this week.

Illuminated scenery was used and several costume changes were introduced in the yodler program.

CHAMPION DEFENDS TITLE AT TOLEDO

TOLEDO, O., July 15.—A beaming son and a light breeze greeted the semi-finalists in the Ohio State Women's Golf Association championship tourney today.

Miss Martha Kinsey, defending champion, plays Mrs. Duane Cowen, of Cleveland and Miss Louise M. Fordyce, three times title holder, of Youngstown, meets Mrs. George Greenhough, Toledo district champion.

The Cincinnati girl and Miss Fordyce are favored to meet in the state finals tomorrow for the state crown.

Both the Cleveland and Toledo survivors are facing severe tests today, each playing two feminine golf stars who are probably the best in the state.

The champion and Miss Fordyce have been playing a splendid game, and while Mrs. Cowen and Mrs. Greenhough have given good accounts of themselves, all the way through, the tournament experience of Miss Kinsey and Miss Fordyce should be an important factor in the day's play.

RADIO MAN SOUGHT IN M'PHERSON CASE

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 15.—Grand jury investigation of the Albee Temple McPherson kidnapping mystery was resumed today with Kenneth Ormiston, Angelus Temple radio man among the missing witnesses.

If Ormiston is not found by process servers the grand jury probe may be brought to a close this evening and the findings of the investigators kept secret.

"Ormiston appears to be the missing link in the solution of the mystery," said District Attorney Asa Keyes. "We must locate him before we can confirm our present findings and arrive at an intelligent conclusion of the case."

The tragedy climaxed a domestic quarrel which had caused the estrangement of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick.

RUINS SEARCHED BY RESCUE PARTIES IN HUNT FOR VICTIMS

Fashionable Catskill Hotel Destroyed By Flames

TANNERSVILLE, N. Y., July 15.—Fires which still smoldered in the flattened litter of what was once one of the Catskill's proudest summer hotels, handicapped the work of search parties which today resumed the task of seeking the dead in the Twilight Inn conflagration.

Gaunt chimneys standing above a mass of glowing embers and charred litter in which more bodies may be hidden were the only remains of the fashionable inn in which at least twelve persons met death. Although streams of water have been poured on the embers for hours it was thought some of the deep buried fires may not be put out for a day or more.

The fact that the hotel safe was buried in the ruins made a check of casualties difficult. It was said at the Red Cross relief station today that Red Cross workers had checked twelve bodies brought out of the wreckage. Red Cross workers estimated "eight or nine persons are still unaccounted for."

There were forty-eight guests and thirty-five employees in the building when the fire broke out early yesterday. They were roused from sleep to find themselves trapped in a conflagration. Scenes of terror were enacted as frantic people, some on the fourth floor of the wooden frame structure fought to escape.

All last night the station was besieged by long-distance telephone calls from anxious friends and relatives of hotel guests.

CRABBE TO TESTIFY BEFORE GRAND JURY

NORWALK, O., July 15.—Attorney General C. C. Crabbe was to appear before the Huron County Grand Jury here today to testify in connection with his charges of graft in the state's attempt to acquire a site for the new northeastern Ohio institution for the feeble minded.

Since Governor Vic Donahey has refused Crabbe permission to conduct a special grand jury inquiry in Wayne County, of similar charges, the attorney general will have what is considered his last chance to present before a grand jury evidence upon which he based his allegations.

Crabbe's charges involve State Wildlife Director John E. Harper, John T. Hogsett, department agriculturist and J. B. Youngblood, Harper's consulting engineer, who is also accused of conspiring to split commissions if certain sites for the institution were purchased.

SORT SPECIMENS AT CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, O., July 15.—The long task of sorting and classifying 13,000 specimens collected on the three-year cruise of the Blossom expedition ship commanded by George F. Simmons, who has been named curator of ornithology at the museum, is under way at the Cleveland Museum of Natural History.

Classification will require more than a year, according to Simmons. Services of experts in various branches of natural history will be sought to aid in the work.

FORTY-NINE BANKS IN SOUTH CLOSED

ATLANTA, Ga., July 15.—Failure of forty-nine Florida and Georgia banks since Monday was confirmed today by the Georgia Banking department.

Forty-eight of the banks closed their doors, after the Bankers Trust Co., of Atlanta failed Monday. They were small banks of which the Atlanta institution was the chief source of funds.

T. R. Bennett, state superintendent of banking, denied the wholesale failures reflected a serious financial situation in Georgia and Florida. Many of the small institutions which closed their doors are solvent and could have been reorganized, he said. Georgia banks are sounder now than they have been at any period since the post-war deflation he said.

RESUMES OPERATION

LOGAN, O., July 15.—The Union Furnace Brick plant which has been in the hands of a receiver has resumed operations, giving employment to seventy-five men.

The GILDED ROSE

by May Christie

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

ROSILYN PAGE, hard-worked daughter of a Long Island innkeeper, finds herself on his death, heiress of a huge fortune. In her hour of need she turns to...

LANDIS RIDGEWAY, a charming young society man who in his visit to the inn has always been kind to her. His mother...

FLORENCE RIDGEWAY, who sees poverty staring her and her son in the face, induces Landis to propose to Rosilyn, although he loathes himself for doing so. Rosilyn is radiant at the wedding, but as she prepares to go on the wedding journey, she overhears gossip that Landis is marrying her for her money—she hears herself referred to as the Gilded Rose. Landis is still in love with...

LYDIA HARBROOK, a heartless beauty who is now in Paris, preparing to marry...

STEVIE VAN VORST, a wealthy old roue. Lydia is really fond of Landis and highly incensed when she hears of his marriage, from...

RUPERT BRISCOE, an old friend of Landis' who was present at the wedding. On the night of the wedding Rosilyn, her eyes opened now to the fact that she has been married for her money, tells Landis that theirs will be a marriage in name only. He is secretly relieved at her "common sense" attitude.

Their first breakfast together is a miserable farce, she desperately unhappy—he bored to tears.

CHAPTER 20

Love's Intuition.

WITH an attempt at cheerful-ness which didn't in the least deceive her, he suggested cards? A long country tramp? A game of dominoes?

"I think you'd be happier if you tried that fishing pool on the grounds. The trout may rise even on a day like this," said Rosilyn heartily. The thought of being left alone, even for a few hours in this gloomy barracks, was a hateful one, when oh! she yearned to have her new-made husband near her, to listen to the fascinating tones of that loved voice!

But Landis' happiness—and she had already done enough to mar it by the very fact of marrying him—was of more importance than her own consuming feeling for him.

"Will you be all right if I push off for an hour or two, and leave you?" Behind the dubious intonation, there was a note of hopefulness just like a weary prisoner who gets news of unexpected freedom.

"Of course, I'll be all right." She forced a laugh between pale lips.

He hesitated, giving her an odd look.

"Rather an unconventional couple, aren't we?" Then: "But maybe—as you pointed out last night—it's better so."

Her heart gave such an agonizing twist of pain she could have cried aloud at that.

But instead, she contrived a nod of the head, apparently quite naturally.

And away went Landis with his fishing rod and gear, tramping across the dripping fields with a couple of dogs at his heels.

Rosilyn moved restlessly about the house. She found the library, but could not settle down to read. Always her thoughts wandered, in mists of disappointment and of pain.

The first morning of her honeymoon! What a travesty it was!

Oh! for brains and education, with which to hold a man like Landis!

She must study to improve herself. She must do everything to try and be upside with fascinating women such as...

"Lydia Harbrook!" said the voice of truth within her—hateful, cruel truth.

But never, never would she emu-

Freckle-Faced Girls Are All Happy Now

The world is full of trouble—but if your trouble is freckles—stop worrying right away for you can go to Sayre's Drug Store and get a jar of Flyte and get rid of every freckle in four days.

You'll be surprised at the speedy action of this cream—the brown unsightly spots are dissolved and entirely disappear.

And it leaves the skin clean and clear and soft as velvet and good to look upon.

Sayre's Drug Store sells Flyte—so do progressive druggists everywhere—and if the unusual should happen and your freckles don't go—just get your money back. adv.

Where Did She Get That Graceful Figure?

You remember her of course—not so long ago she was a regular scarecrow—skinny as a mild word for the way she looked.

Just look at her now—if ever a woman had a perfect figure she has it—she is the envy of half the girls in town.

It's nothing to get excited about—all she did was to take on weight—filled out the hollows in face, neck and chest—any skinny weak, run down woman can do the same and gain a clean clear complexion at the same time.

Just get 50 McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets for 60 cents at Sayre's Drug Store or any druggist anywhere—take 2 after each meal and two at bedtime and if any excessively thin woman, or man either for that matter, doesn't gain at least five pounds in 30 days! Why? Money back.

One very thin woman gained 10 pounds in 22 days. Ask for McCoy's.

Donning a mackintosh, she set off across the fields in the direction of the wood where the trout pool was situated.

All the world smelt sweet, and from the pine trees rose a heady tang that the incessant rain brought out.

Rosilyn's spirits lifted mightily the sun break through for her both literally and metaphorically?

In the first sense it did—before she reached the trout pool. Through a rift of sombre clouds it glinted palely down on Landis in his shiny oilskins, sitting on a fallen tree, with his fishing tackle on the ground beside him.

He did not see her and her foot-prints on the mossy earth were soundless.

Her heart leapt at that glimpse of her beloved, and then contracted with a sudden pain.

For—chin cupped on his left hand, and splendid figure set in the lines of utter weariness—he was gazing, with his whole soul in his eyes, at the photo of a woman in an evening frock.

Midsummer spraying will check the damage. The number depends in a large part on the number of worms that escape the early spray. If the first spray was thoroughly applied there will be very few worms left to do damage.

Both the worm and the adult moth shun the light and to avoid it they feed on the underside of the leaf. Through spraying is not possible from the top of the tank. The operator should circle the tree and spray from the bottom up as well as from the top down.

The midsummer dates recommended by entomologists for the various regions of the state are: the Ohio river counties should begin to spray July 16 and end July 22; in south central Ohio, between Chillicothe and Columbus, July 19 to 24; north central counties, between Columbus and Bucyrus, July 24 to 30. West of Cleveland in the northern counties spray dates are July 26 to 31; east, July 29 to August 4.

The Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station is making special observation of the development of the summer brood of the codling moth in the northern commercial orchard region, and will make special releases supplementing the northern spray dates.

ONE PROBLEM FOLLOWS ANOTHER

While we have been congratulating ourselves on the success of scientific men, and especially of the work of the surgeon and the doctor in alleviating our pain, and in combating disease until they have greatly lengthened the span of human life, here comes Dr. Charles H. Mayo, at the dedication of the $4,500,000 Montgomery Ward Memorial Medical-Dental Building at North-western University, a few days ago, and stresses the fact that medicine with the aid of economists, "has succeeded in upsetting the law on which evolution depended for the progress of living creatures, and now the unfit survive."

"We virtually encourage impurity of stock, in defiance of nature's effort to reduce it by powerful instincts and destructive diseases," he said. "We have nothing to do with making the land fat, nor with its safety from war but if our assurance of increasing health for all and safety from overwhelming epidemics, tends to center people's thoughts on themselves and their safety, so that they clamor panic-stricken at every ache we may be slowly sapping the moral fibre and working untold harm to the nation."

Dr. Mayo traced the increase in mental instability and crime to the cut in mortality made possible by science. And it is now the problem of medicine to lead the world out of the impossible situation into which we are fast approaching, said he.

Well, Dr. Mayo surely has raised an interesting question. Is it better to let the old world wag on in its old ways, with the people suffering untold misery on account of pestilence and disease, and unattended surgical cases, so that the unfit may die a slow but miserable death? Our observation has been that it is not always the unfit who are benefited by the ministrations of the physician, the hospital and the surgeon's knife. Quite as often it is the man or woman who is worthwhile. We believe Dr. Mayo struck a pessimistic chord in the preparation and delivery of that address, if he has been correctly reported.

A NEW EL DORADO

According to a special article in the Boston Transcript, a mining engineer has informed high administration officials of certain unclaimed islands he had heard of situated to the west of Wrangel Island. One of these islands is claimed, he says, to contain over 2,000,000 tons of gold, silver and iron ores.

The exact location is indefinite, of course, but the existence of the ores is vouched for by miners who have been prospecting in rather a desultory way in that region for the past two years. Stories like this, however vague, will have more to do with the populating of that part of the world than new transportation facilities. Feverish gold seekers will hunt out this new El Dorado and find a way to reach it in spite of difficulties. No land is too hot, too cold, too forbidding to repel those who follow the will-o-the-wisp of fortune.

Today's Talk

ON HEARING

I have a friend who says he can not sleep where there is much noise. I have another who says he can sleep anywhere and noise doesn't matter.

The other day I heard two men talking about a man who was quite deaf. They sympathized with his defect. But the deaf man merely smiled and said that he "heard all that was worth hearing—and the rest doesn't matter."

I smiled to myself as I thought that the deaf man had much on those who heard too much and told too much that wasn't true or that never ought to be told.

I took a ride with him in an automobile the other day—and there was present a woman who talked and talked. I wished that I was the deaf man. She wore on the nerves of everyone in the car until I knew all were glad when she was gone.

I was journeying through a magnificent country recently and the beauty outside the car window was like fairyland. But such useless chatter was going on near by in a group of uninterested people that again I wished I were deaf.

But I am glad that I do hear anyway. There are disadvantages to all that we have. But the average happiness that comes from our gifts is high, if we truly appreciate our gifts.

"Not long ago a male nightingale of unusual talent in the Surrey woods of England"—so runs an article that I recently read—"was entrapped into broadcasting over the radio. Without his suspecting it, a microphone was placed in his favorite tree where he was wont to give nightly recitals, and along about eight o'clock in the evening thousands of radio fans all over England heard the golden voice of this Surrey bird."

What a gift—a keen sense of hearing to have heard that songster on that night!

It would be so well if we didn't hear so much and could remember only that which enriches and makes life good and happy.

Calm, courteous, thoughtful on he played.

A high example for us all. Never a downright dub he made Or topped his ball.

He never sobbed in deep remorse Or tried to win by wily tricks. He smiled his way around the course In seventy-six.

I think my smile would be a beauty.

My conduct not a fault would mar.

If ever I could learn to shoot A course in par.

REQUESTED KNITTING DIRECTIONS

"Interested" writes: "I have some worsted left from a discarded sweater and would appreciate directions for an old-fashioned 'Hug-me-Tight,' on which I might use this yarn. Size 44 desired."

"Hug-me-Tight" Directions (all though these directions are for Size thirty-six they may be increased. Perhaps some kind reader, however, will help us out by sending size forty-four, if she has it?) Three large balls or five small balls (one ounce to ball) and one pair of number four celluloid needles. Back: Cast on eighty stitches. Knit two, Purl two, for four inches. Knit plain for five inches, then decrease one stitch at each end every other row five times. Work six and one-half inches on next row the first twenty stitches off onto a stitch holder, and bind off the thirty for neck. On remaining twenty start front:

Front: Work eight ribs for shoulder, then increase one stitch toward the front every other row

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. Annie Kwisinski of 536 1st Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes that she became so weak and run-down that she was not able to do her housework. She saw the name Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the paper and said to her husband, "I will try that medicine and see if it will help me." She says she took six bottles and is feeling much better.

Mrs. Mattie Adams, who lives in Downing Street, Brewton, Ala., writes as follows: "A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and since taking it I feel like a different woman."

With her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grandchildren, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women past fifty say they owe their health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound till twenty stitches have been added. When work measures six and one-half inches from shoulder increase one stitch every other row toward underarm five times, and work on this length till front is as long as back, working border at the bottom same as back. Work second front to correspond. Border: Pick up the stitches on both fronts and around the neck. Knit five rows. On the next row work four buttonholes on right front; starting at the bottom Knit five, * bind off three, Knit two inches, repeat from and on the next row cast on three over round-off stitches. Knit five rows more, bind off. Pick up stitches around armhole, Knit two ribs, and bind off. Sew up seams.

Mrs. T's Answer: To make garlands of flowers to decorate your light-weight knitted boudoir jacket * Chain three, join in ring, * Chain four, work one single crochet in ring (this forms petal), repeat from * five times, chain nineteen for stem, and then simply repeat flower and stem until the garland is long enough to extend around collar and down either side of the front of the jacket.

Cuffs may also be decorated with the garlands. Use shetland floss or zephyr floss.

Tomorrow—Sauces and Relishes.

IMPROVE SERVICE IN SUBWAY STRIKE

NEW YORK, July 16.—Improved service was effected on the Interborough Rapid Transit subway line today as authorities investigated the first crash of the strike which had involved injuries to passengers.

Twelve persons received minor injuries last night when a subway express, operated by an emergency motorman, smashed into the Buffer at the Van Cortland Park terminal. Passengers in the crowded train were severely shaken up. One woman received a fractured nose. The other passengers returned home after being treated.

Despite the claims of the I. R. T. that the strike was broken, president Frank Hadley extended the time limit of the ultimatum that the men must return to work, a noon today. The company declared that seventy-five men had returned, while the strikers said only ten had gone back.

ON Greene County History

OLDTOWN

Official history of the village of Oldtown is uninteresting, certainly not as captivating as the stories which have found a resting place within its now quiet precincts, stories which go back to the days of the Revolutionary War.

It was long after it became a village before anybody thought it necessary to plat the site, or take any steps to set it off from the township in which it was located. In fact, probably its most prosperous years had already passed when John Jacoby and John Neimick concluded to plat it. These two men owned the site, or at least they were owners of the part originally surveyed.

History of the village for the past almost ninety years has been uneventful. A succession of small merchants have served the community, but its proximity to Xenia has made it impossible for it to expand.

Today Oldtown has only several dozen houses or less and there is little likelihood the village will ever become larger.

Laid out in March, 1838, it was formerly always written as two words, (Old Town).

Modish Mitzi

Aunt Sophia has rather an affection for antique glass and china, but she isn't seeing much of it. Aunt Sophia can't see anything except the lady in the ruffled voile dress and the back of the lady in beige chiffon with a cape-scarf of flower-dotted silk. When she wanted to see Washington's bed-chamber clock!

Mitzi's view of the charms of early American relics is also obscured by ladies in smart garments. She particularly likes this dress with the jabot front. And that high crowned hat is particularly new. Mitzi meditates, but not on the glories of the past. They seem to be obscured by the living present.

The Theatre

Just how much part does the supporting cast of a movie play in the eventual success of the film?

The name of the stars are broadcast in the advance literature and advertising. The public learns that it is about to view the one and only Lily Lovely in a very entertaining role and the names of the supporting cast are appended only in small type.

Yet this writer would venture the opinion that some of the best studio acting of the current releases is done by the people whose names are not included among the leads.

Witness Raymond Hatton, whose clever work in "Born to the West," a Jack Holt starring vehicle shown here recently, contributed in generous measure to the success of the performance as entertainment. Hatton has been doing this sort of thing for years and, to my knowledge, his co-starring with Wallace Beery in "Behind the Front," was the first time his name hit the electric lights. His experience in these years has run the gamut from villainy to comedy, during which time he has always given finished performances.

I can remember Hatton since the days when he played the part of the younger brother to Vic Moore in the "Chimmy Fadden" pictures, five-reelers that ran in semi-serial style. Hatton then portrayed a villainous little thug.

Later he appeared as the gentleman crook, the petty lover, the selfish rich man, and various roles of unpopular characters. Now he seems to have struck his stride in comedy, and his recent performances indicate this is his proper field.

Then take the case of Tully Marshall, as fine a character actor as ever dared the Kleig light glare whose parts, frequently only bits, have contributed vastly to the success of pictures which brought him only small slices of the award called fame.

Typical of this class also are Josephine Crowell, Charles Girard, George Fawcett, Kate Price, Charles Cleary, Robert McKim and a host of others. But, of them all, watch Hatton. He is a master of expression in the comedy sense.

Michael Winins, former Xenian, who visited here recently from his home in California, is the father-in-law of Jack Mulhall, well and favorably known screen star, whom many people think resembles Eugene O'Brien. Evelyn Winins, who was herself winning fame in the movies, is his wife and they have a beautiful home in Hollywood.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait until today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

ONLY MITZI SAW ANYTHING

By Jay V. Jay

If Polly weren't so tiny she could see something more than the moire hat in front of her—smart as that is. She can turn around, of course, and look at the straw hat behind her or the felt hats everywhere else, but Polly feels, somehow, that's not what she's here for. She'd rather see the Master's chair.

So then, at tea (Yes, Mitzi found time to change to a large hat and a lace frock) there is rather a difference of opinion. The Goofies notice that he'd better buy some post cards of places of interest for Polly and Aunt Sophia, but that Mitzi seems to have had a lovely time! She has such a nice disposition!

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL ATHLETIC LEAGUE HAS XENIA MEMBER

Formation of what is to be known as the Southwest Parochial A. A. has been completed. It was recently organized in Urbana and is modeled after the Ohio High School Association with the exception that players are eligible for ten semesters instead of eight.

This ruling was adopted because of the small size of the student bodies of some of the schools. Schools in the league include St. Bridget's High, Xenia; St. Mary's, Urbana; Holy Angels, Sidney; St. Raphael, St. Bernard, and St. Joseph, Springfield, and St. Patrick, Bellefontaine.

The league is expected to do big things for parochial school athletics next fall.

CURSES! GAZETTE TEAM FOILED AGAIN

Driving two pitchers off the mound and piling up a commanding lead the Middletown Journal baseball team registered its second victory in two weeks over The Xenia Gazette and Republicans nine 18 to 6 Wednesday afternoon at Washington Park.

Contest was limited to seven innings by agreement because of a delayed start.

The Gazette nine was generally outplayed, out-hit, outfielded and outclassed. Hitting and pitching of the Middletown hurler featured the contest. He connected safely every time at bat.

MISS MARY CUSICK CALLED BY DEATH

Miss Mary Ellen Cusick, 73, for years a well known resident of Bellbrook, died at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Dayton, Tuesday morning at 3:30 o'clock. She is survived by three nieces, Mrs. Berry, of Youngstown; Mrs. James Murphy, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Mrs. P. Duffy, of Chicago.

Funeral services were held Thursday morning at Sacred Heart Church, Dayton, and burial was made in Calvary Cemetery.

GUARANTORS MAKE CHAUTAUQUA IN 1927 CERTAIN BY PLEDGES

Xenia is assured of a Redpath Chautauqua again next year, it was announced Wednesday after a final check had been made of the total number of persons who have signed as guarantors for 1927.

The minimum number of signers, 100 has been exceeded by four. Xenia's chautauqua this year cost $17,500 and as only about $1,500 worth of tickets was sold, guarantors had to make up the deficit themselves. Approximately 700 tickets were sold.

It is planned to hold the 1927 chautauqua in July again next year but later in the month for the accommodation of farmers.

The chautauqua this year was voted one of the best in years. An innovation this year was the launching of a community singing campaign, first inaugurated by Howard Wade Kimsey, perhaps America's most noted song director, on the third day of the program.

Continuing during the remainder of the week under direction of Mrs. W. H. McGervey, song sessions were held before each afternoon and evening programs. Patrons came fifteen minutes early and enjoyed the singing. Special song sheets prepared by the management included popular favorites with easy tunes and familiar words.

At the Redpath Chautauqua in Ft. Myers, Florida, a year ago, Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, wife of the great inventor, and daughter of Lewis Miller, who with Bishop Vincent founded Chautauqua Institution, expressed the opinion that chautauquas would do well to give their audiences greater opportunity for participating in the daily programs. She urged community singing be a feature of all sessions. The suggestion of Mrs. Edison was accepted for all Redpath Chautauquas.

XENIA HATCHERIES EQUIPMENT WILL BE READY SEPTEMBER 1

Newly formed Xenia Hatcheries Co., owned by Leland Cramer and William Russell Steel, this city, who have obtained a lease on the three-story building on Washington St. formerly occupied by the Miami Cereal Co., announce installation of equipment will be begun September 1.

Cramer closed a deal Wednesday involving the purchase of the equipment of the Miami Hatchery from Bab's Hardware store, it is announced. Although the Miami Hatchery will be discarded, the hardware store will continue to handle baby chicks.

Through this and other deals, Cramer announces the new company will have equipment to set 60,000 eggs at a time. Cramer has returned from a trip to Eastern cities where he obtained large contracts, he said.

The company is also closing a deal with the research department of the Buckeye Incubator Co., Springfield, to take over its weekly output of 25,000 chicks. These will be shipped direct to Eastern points to fulfill immediate contracts.

The partners have rented a room on the second floor of the Gazette building to be used as a temporary office. A feature of the new concern will be the blood-testing of every flock in the county from which eggs are obtained to guard against disease and infection.

Written enthusiastically of the musical accomplishments of these artists.

The singing and yodeling of Jack Jost is a revelation. He has an unusually beautiful tenor voice and the same volume and quality is carried into his yodeling.

As for Constantin Wunderle, it is impossible to realize the beautiful effects which he is able to obtain through the melodious zither which he plays with remarkable dexterity.

Both artists and the remainder of the company delighted the audience.

The company's selections included yodel numbers of Switzerland and the Tyrol, as well as the always popular "Echo Song" by the Misses Mary Kessler and Anna Flecht.

Wednesday afternoon, Al Baker, genial entertainer, showed his mastery of magic and ventriloquism. He can fill a stage full of alarm clocks and flags while you wink your eye. He can just as easily make the audience vibrate with his impudent little assistant, "Dummy Dennis," is really saying all the funny things himself, instead of being just a necessary piece of stage property.

What is more, he can classify as a humorist as well.

During the winter, Mr. Baker lives in New York, where he and Dennis are kept busy filling a round of engagements. In the summer they take their vacation on Chautauqua, where they are prime favorites with everyone, but particularly with the younger members of the audience.

A letter was also received by the Scoutmaster from Robert Adair, Troop 2 patrol leader, stationed at Cricket Holler near Dayton, who declares Scouts have closed the most successful two-week camp in the history of Cricket Holler.

SEEK PHYSICIAN IN PROBE OF GIRL'S DEATH

FIANCE CONFESSES GIRL SUCCUMBED AS OPERATION SEQUEL

Search Of Medical Office Reveals Missing Organs

BOSTON, July 15.—Warrants for the arrest of Dr. Thomas E. Walsh and his wife on charges of first degree murder were issued by the municipal court here today in connection with the death of Miss Edith Louise Green, 19-year-old state ward.

This action was preceded by a police raid on the South End office of Dr. Walsh, who is alleged to have dismembered the young woman's body and concealed it near a Mattapan cemetery after she had died from an illegal operation. No trace of the physician or his wife, was found.

James Vincent Ford, 21 of South Boston, with whom Miss Green filed marriage intentions on July 3, was arrested by police in the West End early today and held for questioning.

The dismembered body was identified last night, just thirty-six hours after it had been discovered in two cardboard boxes and a burlap bag, near New Calvary cemetery, Mattapan.

Actual identification was made by Miss Betty Landry, a maid at the Boston Psychopathic Hospital, where the girl had been employed, as a laboratory assistant. Fillings in the victim's teeth and a small mole on her back convinced Miss Landry that the girl was Miss Green.

Following his arrest today, on a charge of engaging a physician to perform an illegal operation, Ford told police the story of his friendship with Miss Green. He said the physician dismembered and disposed of the body and that he had no part in it.

In a second raid at the home of Dr. Walsh today, police found some of the missing internal organs of the victim concealed in a garbage barrel. Police Superintendent Michael H. Crowley, who conducted the raid, submitting the material to Medical Examiner Timothy J. Leary. Meantime Ford was ordered held under $2,000 bail for the August grand jury.

Reports here said the passenger train ran into an open switch and collided with the freight train. The engine of the passenger train was wrecked and a baggage car was thrown from the track.

Purchase of the business and other assets of the livestock firm of Faulkner and St. John, Hill St., by the Greene County Co-operative Agricultural Association, was announced Thursday morning by officers of the association.

The contract for the purchase was completed Wednesday night. The deal becomes effective at once.

Plans of the agricultural association to make Xenia a concentration point for the grading and shipping of livestock from the stock yards of The Faulkner and St. John firm in the railroad yards, off Hill St., were announced at the same time by A. A. Conklin, manager of the association.

Stock pens and scales used by the Faulkner and St. John firm throughout its existence are the property of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., from which they were leased and the same arrangement for use of the pens will be operative under the new ownership. Mr. Conklin announced that it is

BANDITS WHO ROBBED SIDNEY BANK CAUGHT IN CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, O., July 15.—Two men identified as two of the seven bandits who looted a Sidney, Ohio bank of $30,000 were turned over to Sidney police today while authorities here sought to identify five men and a woman held as alleged participants in other Ohio bank robberies. Gervinus Ward and Charles Daniels, were returned to Sidney after their identification by officials of the robbed bank. The others under arrest are Marion Bates, 30; Charles Canary, 30; James Richardson, 25, Harry Zenz, 25; John Moore, 26 and Mrs. Canary, 26.

Police said they believed the sextette perpetrated the looting of a bank at Trenton, Ohio, and were responsible for the killing of Lawrence Steigewald, who was shot and killed while preventing an attempt of robbery near here. A restaurant holdup at Hamilton also is attributed to the gang. The robberies in question occurred within the last three months. Ward and Daniels, together with the other prisoners, excluding Mrs. Canary, were arrested in a raid on a poolroom. A woman was said to have given information that led to the arrests.

WILLIAM VARE WILL DEMAND HIS SENATE CHAIR IF ELECTED

Nominee Proposes To Fight To Retain His Place

WASHINGTON, July 15.—William H. Vare, whose organization spent some $800,000 in his successful race for the Pennsylvania Republican senatorial nomination, intends to fight for his seat at the polls in November and, if he wins, to come to the senate and demand the chair, his friends here say.

While Vare himself declines to discuss statements of Senators warning that he will not be seated if elected, the United Press was informed on reliable authority that Vare will not retire without a fight.

His friends here take the position that if the people of Pennsylvania roll up a large majority for him in the November election, despite the fact that his opponent, before the senate primary investigation committee, the senate should not unseat him. They hold that the voters will have a full opportunity to pass upon his qualifications at the polls and that their verdict should be accepted by the senate.

A dozen senators have openly pledged themselves against seating him because of his expenditures.

The discussion has aroused a complicated situation around the seat now held by Senator George Wharton Pepper, Republican, Pennsylvania.

If Vare is elected and then ousted by the senate, the governor of Pennsylvania would have power to appoint to fill the vacancy until the next general election.

THESE BURGLARS FLYING HIGH

CINCINNATI, O., July 15.—Bandits stole an airplane from an airfield at Richmond, Ind., yesterday and flew away in it, according to messages received by the Embury-Riddle Company, from Police Chief William Eversman, of Richmond.

The plane was described as a Waco model No. 9 with a Hammondsport motor No. SC-45718-4524. Airfields throughout the country have been asked to watch for the craft.

BIG TEN ATHLETIC HEAD SERIOUSLY ILL

Everything that could be done has been done, said Mrs. Huff, "and we only can hope for the best." Huff's surgeons consulted today at the nursing home where the operation was performed.

FOUR KILLED AND MANY INJURED DURING MOSLEM HINDU RIOTS

Police Suppress Disorders In Calcutta By Firing Into Rioters—Scores Arrested After Trouble

CALCUTTA, July 15.—(11:40 a. m.) Four persons were killed and forty-nine sent to hospitals with wounds and injuries in grave riots between Moslems and Hindus in north Calcutta today.

Police fired fifty rounds of ammunition in attempting to suppress the disorders. Scores of arrests were made.

Disorder broke out when Moslem crowds attempted to obstruct a procession of Hindus. The Hindus were marching to music, and observers say that they were not making any aggressive action.

The Moslems came out of side streets onto the line of march and squatted on the pavements to pray, thereby holding up the parade.

Police, who had been maintaining a close guard on the procession, attempted to disperse the obstructionists. At what was apparently a pre-arranged signal disorders started on all sides.

Bricks were hurled and in a moment a riot was under way, with bricks, knives and sticks used promiscuously.

Unrest in India has been manifested in a series of religious clashes, frequently involving casualties, throughout the past few months. The Moslem-Hindu strife is an old one and deep-rooted in Indian life.

WEST UNION FARMER GUILTY OF SLAYING TWO WOMEN IN FIRE

Expect Sentence On Second Degree Con- viction

WEST UNION, O., July 15.—Sentence may be imposed today upon Thomas Hill, West Union farmer, found guilty of second degree murder in connection with the cremation of his crippled wife and his invalid mother-in-law.

Hill was found guilty by a jury of five women and seven men last night after four hours deliberation. Hill had pleaded temporary insanity throughout his trial.

Sentence was deferred by the court pending arguments of Hill's attorney for a new trial. The arguments were to be heard today.

Hill was tried specifically for the murder of his wife, Eliza, 61, and his mother-in-law, Rebecca Craigie, 51, both of whom were bedridden.

Testimony tended to show Hill poured oil about his farmhouse, ignited and then fled to the barn where he watched the flames eat their way to the bed chamber, where the two invalids were trapped.

During the farmer's trial, eleven witnesses who testified Hill was of low mentality, were called.

Other evidence tended to show Hill wanted to dispose of the two women so he would be free to woo Miss Elizabeth Going, of Wilmington, who since the tragedy, has married Walter Miller.

Hill received the jury's verdict with the same apathy that marked him throughout the trial.

DONATION PROVES GOOD INVESTMENT

CLEVELAND, O., July 15.—Five hundred dollars donated to Western Reserve College a few generations back when the institution was pioneering the way of higher education in Ohio is proving a good investment.

During the administration of Dr. George E. Pierce, president of the college from 1834 to 1855, the young state was not particularly concerned with education. Dr. Pierce stimulated generosity. Dr. Pierce offered perpetual scholarships to prospective donors.

Chicago balloonists expected both to land this morning. Captain H. E. Honeywell, of St. Louis and his daughter, Edna, piloting the "Greater St. Louis," landed at Thompsonville, Ill., yesterday, 350 miles from Chicago.

The race was sponsored by the Elks Lodge holding its sixty-second annual convention at Chicago, this week.

INVESTIGATE MEAT PRICE INCREASES

WASHINGTON, July 15.—A preliminary investigation is under way to determine whether meat prices are being increased in the country to enable American packers to undersell their British rivals abroad, it was learned today.

The packers and stock yards administration of the department of agriculture has taken cognizance of charges by British packers that American consumers are paying the expenses of an international price war.

Dr. W. F. Mills, acting chief of the packers administration said today that agents in the field would make a preliminary investigation. If evidence to support the charges is forthcoming, a major investigation will be launched. American packers deny the charges.

The agriculture department to date has received no reports to indicate that the price war is affecting the home market, it was said.

DARING BURGLARS SOUGHT IN ROBBERY

AKRON, O., July 15.—Three daring burglars, one of them a woman who specialize in daylight robberies, were sought by police today in connection with the theft of gems and clothing valued at $10,000 from two homes here.

Property valued at $4,000 was removed from the home of F. E. Holcomb, while at the home of Augustus Cameron, vice president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Export Company, articles valued at $6,000 were taken. The loot from both houses included, ring, lavaliers, furs, watches, clothing, and antiques.

REFUSE TO REDUCE MINE ASSESSMENTS

CLEVELAND, O., July 15.—According to information received from Morgantown, W. Va., the Monongalia County board of review has refused to reduce assessments on coal property of the Paisley and Pursglove mining interests, headquarters of which are here. The Paisley company had asked a reduction of $5,000,000. An assessment of only $35 an acre on its Sewickley holdings had been demanded by the Pursglove Company.

CHAUTAUQUA CROWD ENJOYS YODLING ON CLOSING PROGRAM

Ventriloquist and Magician Also Amuses Audience

The original Fiechtli Swiss Yodlers entertained in a scenic production known as "Echoes of the Alps" on the closing program of the Chautauqua Wednesday night.

Illuminated scenery was used and several costumes changes were introduced in the yodler program.

Jack Jost and Constantin Wunderle drew especial interest. They effectively demonstrated why European music critics, such as Otto Heiber, professor at the Royal Academy of Music in Munich, Josef Rixner, director of the Military Band in Munich, and Julius Lang, conductor at the Royal Opera in Sigmaringen, have

CHAMPION DEFENDS TITLE AT TOLEDO

TOLEDO, O., July 15.—A beaming sun and a light breeze greeted the semi-finalists in the Ohio State Women's Golf Association championship tournament today.

Miss Martha Kinsey, defending champion, plays Mrs. Duane Cowen, of Cleveland and Miss Louise M. Fordyce, three times title holder, of Youngstown, meets Mrs. George Greenhalgh, Toledo district champion.

The Cincinnati girl and Miss Fordyce are favored to meet in the state finals tomorrow for the state crown.

Both the Cleveland and Toledo survivors are facing severer tests today, each playing two feminine golf stars who are probably the best in the state.

The champion and Miss Fordyce have been playing a splendid game, and while Mrs. Cowen and Mrs. Greenhalgh have given good accounts of themselves, all the way through, the tournament experience of Miss Kinsey and Miss Fordyce should be an important factor in the day's play.

RADIO MAN SOUGHT IN M'PHERSON CASE

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 15.—Grand jury investigation of the Almee Semple McPherson kidnapping mystery has resumed today with Kenneth Ormiston, Angelus Temple Radio man among the missing witnesses.

If Ormiston is not found by process servers the grand jury probe may be brought to a close this evening and the findings of the investigators kept secret.

"Ormiston appears to be the missing key in the solution of the mystery," said District Attorney Asa Keyes. "We must locate him before we can confirm our present findings and arrive at an intelligent conclusion of the case."

SLAYER MAY LIVE

URBANA, O., July 15.—Pearl Patrick, 42, who slew his wife, Edna, 44, and his stepson, Cecil, 16, then shot himself, showed signs of regaining consciousness today and physicians believe he will recover. The tragedy climaxed a domestic quarrel which had caused the estrangement of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick.

RUINS SEARCHED BY RESCUE PARTIES IN HUNT FOR VICTIMS

Fashionable Catskill Hotel Destroyed By Flames

TANNERSVILLE, N. Y., July 15.—Fires which still smoldered in the flattened litter of what was once one of the Catskill's proudest summer hotels, handicapped the work of search parties which today resumed the task of seeking the dead in the Twilight Inn conflagration.

Gaunt chimneys standing above a mass of glowing embers and charred litter in which more bodies may be hidden were the only remains of the fashionable inn in which at least twelve persons met death. Although streams of water have been poured on the embers for hours it was thought some of the deep buried fires may not be put out for a day or more.

The fact that the hotel safe was buried in the ruins made a check of casualties difficult. It was said at the Red Cross relief station today that Red Cross workers had checked twelve bodies brought out of the wreckage. Red Cross workers estimated "eight or nine persons are still unaccounted for."

There were forty-eight guests and thirty-five employees in the building when the fire broke out early yesterday. They were roused from sleep to find themselves trapped in a conflagration. Scenes of terror were enacted as frantic people, some on the fourth floor of the wooden frame structure fought to escape.

All last night the station was besieged by long-distance telephone calls from anxious friends and relatives of hotel guests.

CRABBE TO TESTIFY BEFORE GRAND JURY

NORWALK, O., July 15.—Attorney General C. C. Crabbe was to appear before the Huron County Grand Jury here today to testify in connection with his charges of graft in the state's attempt to acquire a site for the new northeastern Ohio institution for the feeble minded.

Since Governor Vic Donahey has refused Crabbe permission to conduct a special grand jury inquiry in Wayne County, of similar charges, the attorney general will have what is considered his last chance to present before a grand jury evidence upon which he based his allegations.

Crabbe's charges involve State Welfare Director John E. Harper, John T. Hogsett, department agriculturist and J. B. Youngblood, Harper's consulting engineer, who is also accused of conspiring to split commissions if certain sites for the institution were purchased.

SORT SPECIMENS AT CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, O., July 15.—The long task of sorting and classifying 13,000 specimens collected on the three-year cruise of the Blossom expedition ship commanded by George F. Simmons, who has been named curator of ornithology at the museum, is under way at the Cleveland Museum of Natural History.

Classification will require more than a year, according to Simmons. Services of experts in various branches of natural history will be sought to aid in the work.

FORTY-NINE BANKS IN SOUTH CLOSED

ATLANTA, Ga., July 15.—Failure of forty-nine Florida and Georgia banks since Monday was confirmed today by the Georgia Banking department.

Forty-eight of the banks closed their doors, after the Bankers Trust Co. of Atlanta failed Monday. They were small banks of which the Atlanta institution was the chief source of funds.

T. R. Bennett, state superintendent of banking, denied the wholesale failures reflected a serious financial situation in Georgia and Florida. Many of the small institutions, which closed their doors are solvent and could have been reorganized, he said. Georgia banks are sounder now than they have been at any period since the post-war deflation he said.

RESUMES OPERATION

LOGAN, O., July 15.—The Union Furnace Brick plant which has been in the hands of a receiver has resumed operations, giving employment to seventy-five men.

The GILDED ROSE

by May Christie

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:
ROSILYN PAGE, hard-worked daughter of a Long Island innkeeper, finds herself on his death, heirless of a huge fortune. In her hour of need she turns to

LANDIS RIDGEWAY, a charming young society man, who in his visits to the inn has always been kind to her. His mother

FLORENCE RIDGEWAY, who sees poverty staring her and her son in the face, induces Landis to propose to Rosilyn, although he loathes himself for doing so. Rosilyn is radiant at the wedding, but as she prepares to go on the wedding journey, she overhears gossip that Landis is marrying her for her money—she hears herself referred to as the Gilded Rose. Landis is still in love with

LYDIA HARBROOK, a heartless beauty who is now in Paris, preparing to marry STEVIE VAN VORST, a wealthy old roue. Lydia is really fond of Landis and highly incensed when she hears of his marriage.

RUPERT BRISCOE, an old friend of Landis' who was present at the wedding.

On the night of the wedding Rosilyn, her eyes opened now to the fact that she has been married for her money, tells Landis that their will be a marriage in name only. He is secretly relieved at her "common sense" attitude. Their first breakfast together is a miserable farce, she desperately unhappy—he bored to tears.

CHAPTER 20

Love's Intuition.

WITH an attempt at cheerful wass which didn't in the least deceive her, he suggested cards? A long country tramp? A game of dominoes?

"I think you'd be happier if you tried that fishing pool on the grounds. The trout may rise even on a day like this," said Rosilyn heroically. The thought of being left alone, even for a few hours in this gloomy barracks, was a hateful one, when oh! she yearned to have her new-made husband near her, to listen to the fascinating tones of that loved voice!

But Landis' happiness—and she had already done enough to mar it by the very fact of marrying him—was of more importance than her own consuming feeling for him.

"Will you be all right if I push off for an hour or two, and leave you?" Behind the dubious intonation, there was a note of hopefulness just like a weary prisoner who gets news of unexpected freedom.

"Of course, I'll be all right." She forced a laugh between pale lips.

He hesitated, giving her an odd look.

"Rather an unconventional couple, aren't we?" Then: "But maybe—as you pointed out last night—it's better so."

Her heart gave such an agonizing twist of pain she could have cried aloud at that.

But instead, she contrived a nod of the head, apparently quite naturally.

And away went Landis with his fishing rod and gear, tramping across the dripping fields with a couple of dogs at his heels.

Rosilyn moved restlessly about the house. She found the library, but could not settle down to read. Always her thoughts wandered, in mists of disappointment and of pain.

The first morning of her honeymoon! What a travesty it was! Oh! for brains and education, with which to hold a man like Landis!

She must study to improve herself. She must do everything to try and be up to the mark with fascinating women such as—

"Lydia Harbrook!" said the voice of truth within her—hateful, cruel truth.

But never, never would she emu-

And it leaves the skin clean and clear and soft as velvet and good to look upon.

Sayre's Drug Store sells Flyte—so do progressive druggists everywhere—and if the unusual should happen and your freckles don't go—just get your money back. adv.

Where Did She Get

That Graceful Figure?

You remember her of course—no so long ago she was a regular scarecrow—skinny is a mild word for the way she looked.

Just look at her now—if ever a woman had a perfect figure she has it—she is the envy of half the girls in town.

It's nothing to get excited about—all she did was to take on weight—filled out the hollows in face, neck and chest—any skinny weak, run down woman can do the same and gain a clear complexion at the same time.

Just get 50 McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets for 60 cents at Sayre's Drug Store or any druggist anywhere—take 2 after each meal and two at bedtime and if any excessively thin woman, or man either for that matter, doesn't gain at least five pounds in 30 days! Why! Money back.

One very thin woman gained 10 pounds in 22 days. Ask for McCoy's.

late Lydia's hardness and her selfishness. She—Rosilyn—would devote herself to Landis' happiness. Didn't love beget love, in its turn? She would win her husband's heart, if human power could compass it.

And—to that end—she must get knowledge of the world, of how to act, and dress and talk. Her constant 'faux pas', and her lack of 'savoir faire' jarred on her bridegroom and she knew it.

Oh! for a kind and candid friend! She couldn't visualize Landis—had she wanted so to see him—in the role of clericone. He was far too well-bred ever to point her errors out to her. Only his compressed lips and a quizzical look about the eyes gave evidence of her social blunders.

There was no woman she could turn to. Her aristocratic mother-in-law aroused a shyness in her that at times was almost overwhelming. A 'grande dame' of the old school, and in her own especial way almost as granite-hard as lovely Lydia. Mrs. Ridgeway was a queen who condescended to her subjects, rather than a kind and loving guide.

In the gloomy library, Rosilyn drug out a dusty tome by Aristotle. The Greek philosopher might help her to a better art of living. Hadn't that been the goal of all the Greeks?

But she learned phrases were beyond her.

It was getting on for lunch time, and the idea struck her that, despite the rain, she would go out and look for Landis. The fresh air might do her headache good, maybe.

Donning a mackintosh, she set off across the fields in the direction of the wood where the trout pool was situated.

All the world smelt sweet, and from the pine trees rose a heady tang that the incessant rain brought out.

Rosilyn's spirits lifted Mightn't the sun break through for her both literally and metaphorically?

In the first sense it did—before she reached the trout pool. Through a rift of sombre clouds it glinted palely down on Landis in his shiny oilskins, sitting on a fallen tree, with his fishing tackle on the ground beside him.

He did not see her and her footsteps on the mossy earth were soundless.

Her heart leapt at that glimpse of her beloved, and then contracted with a sudden pain.

For—chin cued on his left hand, and splendid figure set in lines of utter weariness—he was gazing, with his whole soul in his eyes, at the photo of a woman in an evening frock.

Even before she recognized the pictured face, love's intuition told her the girl was Lydia Harbrook!

Codling moth worm causes the "sting" on the side of apples. Summer spray for the pest, entomologists report, should be applied about ten days later than usual. The "stings" are largely caused by the summer brood of the worm. It eats of the poison spray as it works into the skin of the apple, and is killed. The blemish left, T. H. Parks, extension entomologist.

at the Ohio State University points out, is the "sting."

"Midsummer spraying will check the damage. The number depends in a large part on the number of worms that escape the early spray. If the first spray was thoroughly applied there will be very few worms left to do damage."

Both the worm and the adult moth shun the light and to avoid it they feed on the underside of the leaf. Thorough spraying is not possible from the top of the tank. The operator should circle the tree and spray from the bottom up as well as from the top down.

The midsummer dates recommended by entomologists for the various regions of the state are: the Ohio river counties should begin to spray July 16 and end July 22; in south central Ohio, between Chillicothe and Columbus, July 19 to 24; north central counties, between Columbus and Bucyrus, July 24 to 30. West of Cleveland in the northern counties spray dates are July 26 to 31; east, July 29 to August 4.

The Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station is making special observation of the development of the summer brood of the codling moth in the northern commercial orchard region, and will make special releases supplementing the northern spray dates.

ONE PROBLEM FOLLOWS ANOTHER

While we have been congratulating ourselves on the success of scientific men, and especially of the work of the surgeon and the doctor in alleviating our pain, and in combating disease until they have greatly lengthened the span of human life, here comes Dr. Charles H. Mayo, at the dedication of the $4,500,000 Montgomery Ward Memorial Medical-Dental Building at North-western University, a few days ago, and stresses the fact that medicine with the aid of economists, "has succeeded in upsetting the law on which evolution depended for the progress of living creatures, and now the unfit survive."

"We virtually encourage impurity of stock, in defiance of nature's effort to reduce it by powerful instincts and destructive diseases," he said. "We have nothing to do with making the land fat, nor with its safety from war but if our assurance of increasing health for all and safety from overwhelming epidemics, tends to center people's thoughts on themselves and their safety, so that they clamor panic-stricken at every ache we may be slowly sapping the moral fibre and working untold harm to the nation."

Dr. Mayo traced the increase in mental instability and crime to the cut in mortality made possible by science. And it is now the problem of medicine to lead the world out of the impossible situation into which we are fast approaching, said he.

Well, Dr. Mayo surely has raised an interesting question. Is it better to let the old world wag on in its old ways, with the people suffering untold misery on account of pestilence and disease, and unattended surgical cases, so that the unfit may die a slow but miserable death? Our observation has been that it is not always the unfit who are benefited by the ministrations of the physician, the hospital and the surgeon's knife. Quite as often it is the man or woman who is worthwhile. We believe Dr. Mayo struck a pessimistic chord in the preparation and delivery of that address, if he has been correctly reported.

A NEW EL DORADO

According to a special article in the Boston Transcript, a mining engineer has informed high administration officials of certain unclaimed islands he had heard of situated to the west of Wrangel Island. One of these islands is claimed, he says, to contain over 2,000,000 tons of gold, silver and iron ores.

The exact location is indefinite, of course, but the existence of the ores is vouched for by miners who have been prospecting in rather a desultory way in that region for the past two years. Stories like this, however vague, will have more to do with the populating of that part of the world than new transportation facilities. Feverish gold seekers will hunt out this new El Dorado and find a way to reach it in spite of difficulties. No land is too hot, too cold, too forbidding to repel those who follow the will-o-the-wisp of fortune.

Today's Talk

ON HEARING

I have a friend who says he cannot sleep where there is much noise. I have another who says he can sleep anywhere and noise doesn't matter.

The other day I heard two men talking about a man who was quite deaf. They sympathized with his defect. But the deaf man merely smiled and said that he "heard all that was worth hearing—and the rest doesn't matter."

I smiled to myself as I thought that the deaf man had much more than those who heard too much and told too much that wasn't true or that never ought to be told.

I took a ride with him in an automobile the other day—and there was present a woman who talked and talked. I wished that I was the deaf man. She wore on the nerves of everyone in the car until I knew all were glad when she was gone.

I was journeying through a magnificent country recently and the beauty outside the car window was like fairyland. But such useless chatter was going on near by in a group of uninterested people that again I wished I were deaf.

But I am glad that I do hear anyway. There are disadvantages to all that we have. But the average happiness that comes from our gifts is high, if we truly appreciate our gifts.

"Not long ago a male nightingale of unusual talent in the Surrey woods of England"—so runs an article that I recently read—"was entrapped into broadcasting over the radio. Without his suspecting it, a microphone was placed in his favorite tree where he was wont to give nightly recitals, and along about eight o'clock in the evening thousands of radio fans all over England heard the golden voice of this Surrey bird."

What a gift—a keen sense of hearing to have heard that songster on that night!

It would be so well if we did not hear so much and could remember only that which enriches and makes life good and happy.

THE PERFECT GOLFER

He was indeed a sportsman true, His face a smile of friendship wore.

His ball was on the green in two And down in four.

He took no practice swings while I Was set to drive upon the tee, The short hole found his shot pin high And down in three.

He drove and never cursed his luck. The ball was straight and true and far.

Later that musical ker-chuck Gave him a par.

Calm, courteous, thoughtful on he played A high example for us all. Never a downright dub he made Or topped his ball.

He never sobbed in deep remorse Or tried to win by wily tricks. He smiled his way around the course In seventy-six.

I think my smile would be a beauty! My conduct not a fault would mar. If ever I could learn to shoot A course in par.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 15.—If you don't want to live long, indulge in petting parties is the advice handed out to adolescents by Ross Clarke, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., here.

Modern petting and necking, Clarke says, produces a physiological condition resulting in ill health, nervous ailments and premature old age.

REQUESTED KNITTING DIRECTIONS

"Interested" writes: "I have some worsted left from a discarded sweater and would appreciate directions for an old-fashioned 'Hug-me-Tight,' on which I might use this yarn. Size 44 desired."

"Hug-me-Tight" Directions (although these directions are for Size thirty-six they may be increased. Perhaps some kind reader, however, will help us out by sending size forty-four, if she has it?)

Three large balls or five small balls (one ounce to ball) and one pair of number four celluloid needles. Back: Cast on eighty stitches. Knit two, Purl two, for four inches. Knit plain for five inches, then decrease one stitch at each end every other row five times. Work six and one-half inches on next row the first twenty stitches off onto a stitch holder, and bind off next thirty for neck. On remaining twenty start front:

Front: Work eight ribs for shoulder, then increase one stitch toward the front every other row

till twenty stitches have been added. When work measures six and one-half inches from shoulder increase one stitch every other row toward underarm five times, and work on this length till front is as long as back, working border at the bottom same as back. Work second front to correspond. Border: Pick up the stitches on both fronts and around the neck. Knit five rows. On the next row work four buttonholes on right front; starting at the bottom Knit five, * bind off three, Knit two inches, repeat from * and on the next row cast on three over round-off stitches. Knit five rows more, bind off. Pick up stitches around armhole. Knit two ribs, and bind off. Sew up seams.

Mrs. T's Answer: To make garlands of flowers to decorate your light-weight knitted bodour jacket * Chain three, join in ring, * Chain four, work one single crochet in ring (this forms petal), repeat from * five times, chain nineteen for stem, and then simply repeat flower and stem until the garland is long enough to extend around collar and down either side of the front of the jacket.

Cuffs may also be decorated with the garlands. Use shetland floss or zyphry floss.

Tomorrow—Sauces and Relishes.

IMPROVE SERVICE IN SUBWAY STRIKE

NEW YORK, July 16.—Improved service was effected on the Interborough Rapid Transit subway line today as authorities investigated the first crash of the strike which had involved injuries to passengers.

Twelve persons received minor injuries last night when a subway express, operated by an emergency motorman, smashed into the Buffer at the Van Cortlandt Park terminal. Passengers in the crowded train were severely shaken up. One woman received a fractured nose. The other passengers returned home after being treated.

Despite the claims of the I. R. T. that the strike was broken, president Frank Hadley extended the time limit of the ultimatum that the men must return to work, o noon today. The company declared that seventy-five men had returned, while the strikers said only ten had gone back.

OLDTOWN

Official history of the village of Oldtown is uninteresting, certainly not as captivating as the stories which have found a resting place within its now quiet precincts, stories which go back to the days of the Revolutionary War.

It was long after it became a village before anybody thought it necessary to plat the site, or take any steps to set it off from the township in which it was located.

In fact, probably its most prosperous years had already passed when John Jacoby and John Neim-sick concluded to plat it. These two men owned the site, or at least they were owners of the part originally surveyed.

History of the village for the past almost ninety years has been uneventful. A succession of small merchants have served the community, but its proximity to Xenia has made it impossible for it to expand.

Today Oldtown has only several dozen houses or less and there is little likelihood the village will ever become larger.

Laid out in March, 1838, it was formerly always written as two words, (Old Town).

The Theatre

Just how much part does the supporting cast of a movie play in the eventual success of the film?

The name of the stars are broadcast in the advance literature and advertising. The public learns that it is about to view the one and only Lily Lovely in a very entertaining role and the names of the supporting cast are appended only in small type.

Yet this writer would venture the opinion that some of the best studio acting of the current releases is done by the people whose names are not included among the leads.

Witness Raymond Hatton, whose clever work in "Born to the West" a Jack Holt starring vehicle shown here recently, contributed in generous measure to the success of the performance as entertainment. Hatton has been doing this sort of thing for years and, to my knowledge, his co-starring with Wallace Beery in "Behind the Front," was the first time his name hit the electric lights. His experience in these years has run the gamut from villainy to comedy, during which time he has always given finished performances.

I can remember Hatton since the days when he played the part of the younger brother to Vic Moore in the "Chimney Fadden" pictures, five-reelers that ran in semi-serious style. Hatton then portrayed a villainous little thug.

Later he appeared as the gentleman crook, the butler, the selfish rich man, and various roles of un-popular characters. Now he seems to have struck his stride in comedy, and his recent performances indicate this is his proper field.

Then take the case of Tully Marshall, as fine a character actor as ever dared the Kleig light glare whose parts, frequently only bits, have contributed vastly to the success of pictures which brought him only small slices of the award called fame.

Typical of this class also are Josephine Crowell, Charles Girard, George Fawcett, Kate Price, Charles Cleary, Robert McKim and a host of others. But of them all, watch Hatton. He is a master of expression in the comedy sense

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first child I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes. 'Mother's Friend' as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradford Regular Co., B.A. 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. ## Modish Mitzi

By Jay V. Jay

Aunt Sophia has rather an affection for antique glass and china, but she isn't seeing much of it. Aunt Sophia can't see anything except the lady in the ruffled voile dress and the back of the lady in beige chiffon with a cape-scarf of flower-dotted silk. When she wanted to see Washington's bed-chamber clock!

If Polly weren't so tiny she could see something more than the moire hat in front of her—smart as that is. She can turn around, of course, and look at the straw hat behind her or the felt hats everywhere else, but Polly feels, somehow, that's not what she's here for. She'd rather see the Master's chair.

Mitzi's view of the charms of early American relics is also obscured by ladies in smart garments. She particularly likes this dress with the jabot front. And that high crowned hat is particularly new. Mitzi meditates, but not on the glories of the past. They seem to be obscured by the living present.

So then, at tea (Yes, Mitzi found time to change to a large hat and a lace frock) there is rather a difference of opinion. The Goofy notices that he'd better buy some post cards of places of interest for Polly and Aunt Sophia, but that Liza seems to have had a lovely time! She has such a nice disposition!

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL ATHLETIC LEAGUE HAS XENIA MEMBER

Formation of what is to be known as the Southwest Parochial A. A. has been completed. It was recently organized in Urbana and is modeled after the Ohio High School Association with the exception that players are eligible for ten semesters instead of eight.

This ruling was adopted because of the small size of the student bodies of some of the schools. Schools in the league include St. Brigid's High, Xenia; St. Mary's, Urbana; Holy Angels, Sidney; St. Raphael, St. Bernard, and St. Joseph, Springfield, and St. Patrick, Bellefontaine.

The league is expected to do big things for parochial school athletics next fall.

Present league officials are: president, the Rev. Father Casey, St. Mary's, Urbana; commissioner, George Fanning, St. Mary's, Urbana; and Andy Bold, St. Bernard, Springfield.

CURSES! GAZETTE TEAM FOILED AGAIN

Driving two pitchers off the mound and piling up a commanding lead the Middletown Journal baseball team registered its second victory in two weeks over The Xenia Gazette and Republic nine 18 to 6 Wednesday afternoon at Washington Park.

Contest was limited to seven innings by agreement because of a delayed start.

The Gazette nine was generally outplayed, outthit, outfielded and outclassed. Hitting and pitching of the Middletown hurler featured the contest. He connected safely every time at bat.

GUARANTORS MAKE CHAUTAUQUA IN 1927 CERTAIN BY PLEDGES

Xenia is assured of a Redpath Chautauqua again next year, it was announced Wednesday after a final check had been made of the total number of persons who had signed as guarantors for 1927.

The minimum number of signers, 100 has been exceeded by four.

Xenia's chautauqua this year cost $1,750 and as only about $1,500 worth of tickets was sold, guarantors had to make up the deficit themselves. Approximately 700 tickets were sold.

It is planned to hold the 1927 chautauqua in July again next year but later in the month for the accommodation of farmers.

The chautauqua this year was voted one of the best in years.

An innovation this year was the launching of a community singing campaign, first inaugurated by Howard Wade Kinsey, perhaps America's most noted song director, on the third day of the program.

Continuing during the remainder of the week under direction of Mrs. W. H. McGervey, song sessions were held before each afternoon and evening programs. Patrons came to the singing, sang and enjoyed the singing. Special song sheets prepared by the management included popular favorites.

EFFORTS TO LOCATE MISSING MARINE BY GIRL FRIEND FAIL

Miss Gladys Hodson, Dover, N. J., girl friend of Corporal Fred J. Rachford, this city, believed to have been killed in the naval arsenal explosion at Lake Denmark, wired Mrs. Thomas Coan, 325 Cincinnati Ave., the youth's aunt, Thursday morning that she went to the Brooklyn navy yard Wednesday in an ineffectual attempt to locate the body of the Xenian among the unknown dead marines.

Miss Hodson has virtually abandoned hope that Rachford escaped in the munitions blasts with his life but is nevertheless continuing her personal search in the devastated area.

Rachford was listed among the "unaccounted for marines" but as he was among the first ordered to the fire lines, his body, it is feared may never be recovered or recognized.

Naval officials have recovered and turned over to identification experts former human fragments and identification of all explosion victims is not yet complete.

ites with easy tunes and familiar words.

At the Redpath Chautauqua in Ft. Myers, Florida, a year ago, Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, wife of the great inventor, and daughter of Lewis Miller, who with Bishop Vincent founded Chautauqua Institution, expressed the opinion that chautauquas would do well to give their audiences greater opportunity for participating in the daily programs. She urged community singing be a feature of all sessions. The suggestion of 700 tickets was accepted for all Redpath Chautauquas.

XENIA HATCHERIES EQUIPMENT WILL BE READY SEPTEMBER 1

Newly formed Xenia Hatcheries Co., owned by Leland Cramer and William Russell Steel, this city, who have obtained a lease on the three-story building on Washington St. formerly occupied by the Miami Cereal Co., announce installation of equipment will be begun September 1.

Cramer closed a deal Wednesday involving the purchase of the equipment of the Miami Hatchery from Babb's Hardware store, it is announced. Although the Miami Hatchery will be discarded, the hardware store will continue to handle baby chicks.

Through this and other deals, Cramer announces the new company will have equipment to set 60,000 eggs at a time. Cramer has returned from a trip to Eastern cities where he obtained large contracts, he said.

The company is also closing a deal with the research department of the Buckeye Incubator Co., Springfield, to take over its weekly output of 25,000 chicks. These will be shipped direct to Eastern points, to fulfill immediate contracts.

The partners have rented a room on the second floor of the Gazette building to be used as a temporary office. A feature of the new concern will be the blood-testing of every flock in the county from which eggs are obtained to guard against disease and infection.

Mutt All New York Knows

In at Last

Ever since she was fifteen, Esther Kaplan, twenty-two, struggled to enter the United States to join her parents, who were naturalized. Injuries resulting from a sabre thrust in a pogrom in Ukraine kept her out. The Government finally tempers rules with mercy, and she was allowed to land in New York.

written enthusiastically of the musical accomplishments of these artists.

The singing and yodeling of Jack Jost is a revelation. He has an unusually beautiful tenor voice and the same volume and quality is carried into his yodeling.

As for Constantin Wunderle, it is impossible to realize the beautiful effects which he is able to obtain through the melodious zither which he plays with remarkable dexterity.

Both artists and the remainder of the company delighted the audience.

The company's selections included yodel numbers of Switzerland and the Tyrol, as well as the always popular "Echo Song" by the Misses Mary Kessler and Anna Flecht.

Wednesday afternoon, Al Baker, genial entertainer, showed his mastery of magic and ventriloquism. He can fill a stage full of alarm clocks and flags while you wink your eye. He can just as easily make the audience vow his impudent little assistant, "Dummy Dennis," is really saying all the funny things himself, instead of being just a necessary piece of stage property.

What is more, he can classify as a humorist as well.

During the winter, Mr. Baker lives in New York, where he and Dennis are kept busy filling a round of engagements. In the summer they take their vacation on Chautauqua, where they are prime favorites with everyone, but particularly with the younger members of the audience.

TWO NEW BOY SCOUT TROOPS FORMED IN COUNTY THIS WEEK

Organization of new Boy Scout troops in New Burlington and Spring Valley has been completed, giving Greene County seven troops. Other troops are located in Jamestown, Cedarville, Yellow Springs and two in Xenia.

The new Burlington troop is the latest to be formed under leadership of the Rev. H. G. Curless, pastor of the Methodist Church there. The Rev. Mr. Curless was formerly Scoutmaster of a Cincinnati troop for several years under Scout Executive A. E. Roberts and is an experienced leader.

A delegation of Xenia Scouts under Scoutmaster R. H. Kingsbury will go to New Burlington Friday night to award new members tenderfoot badges. Troop 1 patrol leaders are asked to meet at the home of Scoutmaster Kingsbury Friday night at 7:45 o'clock. Any other Scouts are also invited to come.

Scoutmaster Kingsbury has received word from Max Marshall, member of Troop 1, who is in Massachusetts attending Camp Buckle-in-the-Berkshires, that it is a "great camp."

A letter was also received by the Scoutmaster from Robert Adair, Troop 2 patrol leader, stationed at Cricket, Holler near Dayton, who declares Scouts have closed the most successful two-week camp in the history of Cricket Holler.

The guard unit's armory in Xenia will remain open each Saturday evening to allow members of the company to report there to draw field equipment. Captain John has issued orders to the effect that each individual after drawing his field equipment, shall report direct to the camp at the Home, where he will immediately erect his half-shelter tent in the line of tents established.

The captain has given the following rules to govern the camps: "Taps will be sounded at 8:30 o'clock. Central Standard time, Saturday night*but permission is herewith granted to all to remain up and about the camp until 10 p. m., slow time providing no unnecessary noise is made.

"Reveille will be sounded at 6 a. m., assembly at 6:10 and breakfast at 7 a. m., slow time.

"The camp will be conducted in accordance with the conduct of any military camp with a short period of military instruction or drill some time in the morning. Camp will be broken at 3:30 p. m. Sunday, the company returning to the city.

"This should prove a very interesting diversion to members of the company from the regular routine of Armory drill. The public is invited to come to the Home any Sunday and inspect the camp."

stock in the county, is a step forward in the progress of the new shipping association, which although still an infant, has transacted $160,000 worth of business for Greene County farmers since its inception last March 16.

The business of Faulkner and St. John was purchased from James V. Faulkner, who has been the sole owner since he bought the interest of his late partner, C. Morgan St. John, from the latter's heirs a month ago. Mr. St. John died early in April.

Mr. Faulkner was engaged in the livestock business with Mr. St. John eighteen years, and for twenty-five years has been connected with the livestock business. He is one of the best known men engaged in that industry in this part of Ohio, and the fact that he has decided to retire from the business will be heard with wide regret. He intends to maintain his home on Hill St., while looking after his 400 acre farm in Caesar Creek township and his town property.

A. A. Conklin manager of the Greene County Co-operative Agricultural Association is widely known as a breeder and feeder of livestock. For years he has been one of the best known feeders of Duroc hogs in this section of Ohio and is thoroughly versed in all phases of the livestock business. The co-operative Agricultural Association has made remarkable progress in its short life, and purchase of the local business is regarded as one of the most important deals affecting the livestock shipping industry that occurred here for years.

The association ships direct to big livestock terminal points and direct to buyers for farmers. There are sub-managers of the association in Cedarville, Jamestown, Bowersville, Roxanna and Port William.

Deputy Sheriff John Baughn was in town Friday, making it clear to the voters that he is the logical contestant to succeed Sheriff Morris Sharp.

Bellbrook will play the Xenia Reserves on the latter's diamond, Sunday afternoon, July 25.

The American Legion has furnished the village with a number of flags and has prepared plans to display them on all patriotic occasions.

The latest word received from the two hikers, Carroll Berryhill and Sammy Bowers, informs us that they had reached a point in central Idaho.

County Recorder B. F. Thomas was here Monday night explaining to his friends that he was not yet a rich man, and that another term as Recorder would fall far short of placing him in the millionaire list.

Professor George H. Eckerle, former superintendent of the Sugar Creek Township schools, and a resident of Bellbrook during his incumbency, was here Wednesday announcing his desire to become county auditor.

An agreeable birthday surprise was the lot of Mrs. Amanda Ellis
